

I think that this proposal should not go thru. Since the lines would be unshielded, they will generate a lot of interference which would complicate HAM transmissions and other transmissions.